

The Math Lady ® shares her STEM Journey at Johnson STEM Activity Center

The Math Lady ® presented "My STEM Journey" at the Johnson STEM Activity Center in Atlanta, Georgia on Saturday, October 25, 2025 to EMPOWER SCD.

The goal of EMPOWER SCD is to help middle and high school students with Sickle Cell Disease (SCD) thrive in school and to enlarge their academic and career horizons to include a future in Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics, or Medicine (STEMM).

Through a 9-month mentorship program, students with SCD will pair with a college student Mentor. The Math Lady ® serves as Sr. Mentor. Senior Mentors will support and guide the college student Mentors in their mentoring journey. The student Mentors are college and professional students from Georgia Tech and Morehouse School of Medicine.
